

STAR CHAMPIONSHIP 1932

For the first time the Star Championship was a truly national competition rather than a Southern League riders championship. Riders qualified for the Wembley final by winning their own track's qualifying round. A vote among each track's supporters decided the second representative.

Unexpectedly Les Wotton gave Eric Langton a tough time in heat 3, leading him for 2 laps, before sliding wide. Eric came under but Wotton went after him and only lost by a length.

Langton flew from the start in the Final. Contact between Huxley and Case on the first bend delayed them both and it was all over.
